Second Harvest Food Bank to Host BackPackular Event to Benefit Students At The Warren County School District

Warren, PA., January 12, 2017 – As the school year continues into the spring semester, the need of hungry schoolchildren in Warren remains. Each week the Second Harvest BackPack Program provides bags of food to nearly 350 students throughout the Warren County School District. Income eligible students in 2nd and 3rd grades receive a BackPack of food that contains enough servings to provide at least 2 breakfasts, 2 lunches, 2 dinners as well as snack items. The BackPacks are distributed to students on Fridays to help feed them over the weekend.

This Saturday, Second Harvest will host the final BackPackular of the 2016-17 school year. Nearly 3,700 BackPacks will be assembled during this 4 ½ - hour event and will be distributed throughout the remainder of the second semester. Approximately 70 volunteers will be on hand to aid with the project.

“It is proven that children who go to school hungry are unable to focus on their studies and their grades often suffer because of it,” said Karen Seggi, executive director of Second Harvest. “I am thankful that we are able to partner with so many different individuals, groups and businesses in Warren who share our concern for the youth in our area and recognize the need for the BackPack Program.”

Volunteer assistance for the event will come from a variety of individuals, civic groups and school clubs across the Warren area that include Warren Kiwanis, Warren Rotary, Warren Area High School Key Club, Eisenhower High School Key Club, Builders Club, Hooktown Holidays, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau as well as students from the University of Pittsburgh at Bradford.
