Second Harvest to Host Produce Express Distribution for Those in Need in Clarendon

Clarendon, Pa., May 11, 2020 – While COVID-19 has caused many disruptions across the region, the Second Harvest Food Bank of Northwest Pennsylvania has continued to operate near full capacity. This includes the Second Harvest Produce Express mobile pantry located in Clarendon. The next distribution will occur Saturday, May 16th outside of the Veterans of Foreign Wars facility at 9 a.m.

The Produce Express program delivers a truckload of food for families in need and provides income-eligible families with 25-50 pounds of nutritious food, free of charge. By making fresh, healthy produce available to those who normally would not have access to it, Second Harvest encourages the community to eat healthier and make better nutritional choices. When available, Produce Express distributions also include other grocery items and non-food essentials.
